TRINITY EQUESTRIAN CENTER OFFERING AT-RISK YOUTH MENTORING

In a beautiful, peaceful setting on Highway 37 outside Eau Claire, Trinity Equestrian Center offers a mentorship program for at-risk youth.

As explained on their website, “Trinity’s Power of Example Mentoring Program is based on a one-on-one relationship between a mentor and client. It takes place on- and off-site and invests in the three-step concept of connection, relationship, and trust to deliver powerful and positive life-changing outcomes. Intervention, early prevention, and measurable progress are the focus of this program.”

Currently, the program employees thirty-five mentors and nearly fifty clients, with clients’ aged six to eighteen years old. Each client enjoys between four and twelve hours weekly of fun interaction with a mentor while working on the goals established at the initial assessment.

Trinity’s Facebook page describes the process: “The focus and theme of activities with any given client are determined by the client’s Care Team as mapped out in the initial assessment. Mentors document time, activities, goals pursued, and outcomes after each appointment. They are summarized in monthly and annual progress reports that are provided to the case worker. Examples of outcomes include: increased daily living and social skills, increased trust and respect for others, developed more effective coping and communication skills, improved self-confidence and self-value, and improved health and fitness.”

Also on their Facebook page are several testimonies from parents of clients. Parent Abigail Fetts said, “Trinity’s Youth Mentoring Program has changed my son! He’s had a really hard life for such a young boy and his behavior and school record shows it. Within four weeks of being involved in Trinity’s Mentoring Program, so much has changed. He no longer talks back to me, skips school, or hangs with the kids he is prohibited from being with. He’s really focusing on positive things, getting better grades, and WANTING to do well! He even picks up his clothes! Thank you for what you do and how you help families.”

If you are interested in a child participating in this mentoring program or in becoming one of Trinity’s valued Mentors, go to www.trinity-ec.com/youth_mentoring_phtml and scroll to the bottom of the page for the link to the client referral form and the link to email Ian Mattson, program director, to schedule a new client assessment or get employment info. You may also call Trinity at 715-835-4530.
The Department of Languages at the University of Wisconsin–Eau Claire (UWEC), in cooperation with the UWEC Children’s Nature Academy and the Eau Claire Area School District, will offer local elementary school children the opportunity to begin to learn a second language during an immersion day camp this summer called Bilingual Beginnings: Summer Language Camps. Students who will be going into grades K-5 through 4 may choose to study Chinese, French, or Spanish. Online enrollment begins March 1. A non-refundable fee of $10 gets your child signed up, and the $235 fee for the class is covered by the Eau Claire Area School district if your child is a resident of the district.

The two-week summer camps will be taught by university pre-service teachers and will focus on a variety of themes designed to allow students to experience the languages through play, song, creativity, and fun. In these camps, students will experience immersion-based teaching strategies such as the use of modeling, comprehension checks, extensive oral and written input, and a non-threatening learning environment.

The camps take place partly in one of the classrooms at the Children’s Nature Academy housed in the Priory but also take advantage of the beautiful natural surroundings of the Priory campus so that they are a true immersion experience. When the kids learn about the five senses and nature during one of the camps, for example, we want them to actually use those senses as they see, smell, touch, hear, and taste the new language they are learning.

We think it is important to offer camps that introduce the study of languages and cultures to the area children since they are at the perfect age to begin to learn a second language, and in this way we can create some important outreach to Eau Claire and surrounding communities. Research shows that exposing children to another language improves flexibility in thinking, listening skills, understanding of native language, and helps children gain an appreciation of other cultures.

For more information, visit www.uwec.edu/Children/programs/summercamp.htm or contact the Children’s Nature Academy: 1190 Priory Road, University of WI-Eau Claire, 715-836-2178, or children@uwec.edu.
School is out and you may be dreading it. As a former single parent, I know that summer can be a challenge. With time to fill, one selects activities that are affordable, that your child(ren) will enjoy, and for which you can find transportation. It can help if you have people who know you and your children and who are interested in how things are going.

I discovered my answer to this dreaded summer dilemma when surrounded by people at First Congregational UCC in Eau Claire. The answer actually was these meaningful relationships with more caring adults. The group included retired adults who offered after school snacks and supervision on that one night I couldn’t be in two places at once, families with children of various ages to be brothers and sisters, and persons who became my mentors. There were ears to hear the complaint of the moment. More importantly, the conversations helped me to find a workable solution. These connections built my capacity to support my children’s activities.

School is out. Perhaps this summer, you look beyond filling your child’s time slots with activity and imagine how you can build your family’s capacity instead. Search Institute in Minnesota has been asking this question on behalf of our children for a number of years. After decades of research, they say that there is nothing—not that has more impact in the life of a child than positive relationships. See more about Search Institute at www.search-institute.org/. So, how can you increase the number of trusted relationships, caring adults, and loving mentors for your children or for you? It may seem daunting, but it is really quite easy. You increase your family capacity anytime you act to increase your relationships. You simply choose activities with a different goal in mind—spend enough time in the activity to connect with others.

School is out. As you review the lists of excellent opportunities Eau Claire has for your children, dig a bit deeper for excellent opportunities that come with a community of caring adults and then commit to spending time. Churches do this, and some do it very well; theater activities are often intergenerational; and activities with non-profits and service groups move your child’s focus to valuable contributions in our community and world. Take the challenge and read School’s Out, Now What? through the lens of building caring relationships for your family. Pick activities that increase your family capacity this summer.

The vision for Religious Education at First Congregational UCC is to strengthen our families by building community and emphasizing faith practices. Everything the church does is Christian education from mission trips and justice actions to worship, study, and music. Originally from South Dakota, Jill has been a member of First Congregational UCC in Eau Claire since 1982. Her daughter now lives in the Twin Cities pursuing her own work in Christian Education.
